Steve/Richard:

Please see the comment below from Lois Huff with the Coastal Bend Bays Foundation relative to a recent Coastal Issues Forum that they had where Falcon cleanup was brought up.

"At the November 13 Coastal Issues Forum we presented area citizens with an update on Falcon Refinery and Brine Services, the two CBBF EPA TAG grants. Questions were raised about both sites; for the Brine site, people were concerned that "nothing is happening." For the Falcon site, people were concerned because "things are happening."

Has there been any consideration, particularly for the Falcon site, to post some signage regarding who is responsible for the activity taking place and providing a website and phone number?"

I talked with Rafael and he indicated that you guys no longer had the web site. I don't remember you guys requesting permission from EPA for discontinuing the use of a website. This is a way to get the message out about what is going on with the site. I think the suggestions to post a sign at the entry by you guys is a good idea and I think it should be done. It should look something like this and be large enough to read by someone driving by the facility:

Falcon Refinery Superfund Cleanup conducted by Kleinfelder, Inc.
for the National Oil Recovery Corp

Cleanup Information: www.epaossc.net/falconrefinery
Kleinfelder Emergency Contact Number:
EPA Emergency Contact Number: 800.424.8802

Then you guys need to have a website which I maybe able to help with. I can give you access to our web page for the posting of documents, monthly status updates, work plans, etc. The information you post will be censored by me. Nothing you put on this page will be allowed to be marked public. This will be my responsibility. Otherwise, you can develop your own website similar to the one that your guys previously had under BNC. I would like to get this started immediately. Therefore, I have given you access to post the historical documents that include Work Plans and monthly reports.

Steve, I have given you write privileges to this website. You will need to get a password which will be obtained once you register. I have given you access to the site. It is www.epaosc.net.
